

RETURN POLICY CONTRACT

All returns will be the responsibility of the author and will be deducted from compensation due the author until returns are paid in full. The Publisher may maintain a reasonable reserve against returns from distributors, retailers, and customers, in any accounting period, not to exceed fifteen percent (15%) of the amount due to Author, and Publisher shall indicate such reserve, if any, on the Author's statement of accounting. Such reserve shall be maintained for no more than one accounting period.

Returns are calculated based on the printed price of the book plus freight to client.
